A New Direction

Elizabeth Collard has stepped down from the duties of presidency of DWS. She has been a key member since 2007, serving in many different capacities. Through her leadership she helped establish monthly meetings, taught many informative member programs, initiated the Signature Artist Process, participated in community outreach and committed to making DWS a first-class organization. Her dedication to DWS will be missed. We send our sincere thanks for her service and extend best wishes for the future.

Marjorie Wuestner has assumed the position of president until the end of the year when the elections of officers and directors will be held. We are also pleased to announce that Joan Fabbri has joined the board as Exhibitions Director. Joan and Marjorie, both, bring a wealth of knowledge to these positions.

At present, there are five members carrying the administrative duties of DWS and we appeal to you to seriously consider joining the administration team and keep DWS going strong. Any board member will be happy to assist with guidance and mentoring.

Several artists painted at Lavender Fields, in Milton, surrounded by the scent of lavender and the buzzing of bees. It was peak bloom and an inspiring sight.
